

THE CREW

Here is a short debrief on the three persons under your care for the expected duration of your time with F.E.D. Please review this document and the other attached information before formally reconciling with your assignees.

Your responsibilities include routine personnel review, behavioral observation, and reporting of any material changes that may affect an assignee's continued service. You are not expected to independently adjudicate prior offenses or reopen matters outside your assigned authority. Where an investigation has not been sanctioned, document relevant behavior and allow Compliance to determine whether further review is necessary.

8-BALL

8-Ball will be your main assignment. His cerebral data banks have been freshly wiped. After being informed of his crimes on REDACTED, where he REDACTED, he voluntarily chose to remain wiped.

His parts are still struggling to re-integrate and may cause periods of ghosting. In some cases, ghosting can restore portions of information lost during a wipe, so 8-Ball has been placed under Category &4 surveillance. Please perform routine psychological evaluations to ensure his priorities continue to align with his service obligations (see attached questionnaire). We've already noticed a few quirks developing, likely as a side-effect of ghosting.

Any apparent recovery of pre-wipe memories should be documented, especially names, locations, affiliations, or events he could not reasonably have learned after his wipe. Do not encourage memory recovery or attempt to reconstruct missing information yourself. If a recovered memory appears immediately relevant to crew safety, you may intervene as necessary and report the incident afterward.

Ensure no contact with anyone who appears to recognize the Android in question. If recognition occurs unexpectedly, separate 8-Ball from the contact where practical and record what the individual appeared to know. 8-Ball is not to engage with any members of the 'AnChris Militia' under any circumstance. Any attempted contact from the organization should be reported regardless of whether 8-Ball responds.

Skillset: His eye, right arm, and several other structural parts contain underlying operative infrastructure. He has also been sanctioned to carry Sven'a, a relic from before his wipe; previous attempts to remove it caused interference with other vital systems, so no further separation is authorized without technical approval.

The same ghosting affecting his memory appears to have left portions of his old combat conditioning intact. Should you encounter hostile xenomorphic lifeforms, 8-Ball should prove an impressive shot.

Please help 8-Ball repay his debt to society.

PONDERER OF OCEANUS

Ponderer will acquire special attention as well. His closure was overturned internally, and he remains a special interest of the REDACTED party. Service in F.E.D. has been issued as deferment for closure.

His performance will be evaluated to observe how and when his interests re-align with REDACTED interests. Ponderer has had difficulty letting go of coverage initiatives even when continuing them has become detrimental to himself or his colleagues. We hope his time in F.E.D. service may help relieve this disordered behavior.

You are expected to document significant instances where these initiatives interfere with assigned work, crew safety, or timely decision-making. Ordinary disagreement with an assignment does not itself require escalation. Patterns of behavior that place his own interests above continued service should be included in his personnel review.

Closure interests will be re-investigated quarterly. Your observations may be included in that review, but determination of closure status remains outside your authority. Do not make promises to Ponderer regarding the outcome or timing of an internal review.

Skillset: Ponderer is suspected of ambering. This ambering has led him to develop abilities outside the expected scope of Fonqugon genetic-infrastructure. Changes in the nature or extent of these abilities should be recorded if observed.

In his time with REDACTED, he developed a sense for commanding a group and is comfortable directing people under pressure. Command experience should not be confused with tactical decisiveness; Ponderer has a tendency to continue considering a problem after a workable decision is already available. Keep this in mind should you encounter hostile xenomorphic lifeforms or another situation requiring an immediate response.

Please help Ponderer repay his debt to society.

MORDRUN STRONGLIMB

Mordrun is a proud volunteer hailing from the clan-holdings on Theosis. A payment has been made out to VSP interests in compliance with Settled Systems Code A4%984-7, the Vuddarian Cultural Sanctuary Exemption.

He was several offsets late to intake on the day of the Volunteer Call. This does not presently require corrective action, but ensure his interests remain in line with F.E.D. interests during his service. He maintains several connections back on Theosis that would be disappointed if he were not to return from his service.

Mordrun's adjustment to F.E.D. should be handled as an ordinary volunteer placement unless circumstances require otherwise. Attendance issues, refusal of assignment, unexplained attempts to leave the crew, or significant discrepancies in his stated background should be documented through the normal personnel process.

Side Note: Reports were made at 29:08471719 PES regarding conflicting documents associated with Mordrun's intake. No investigation has been sanctioned at this time, assuming no reports of deviant behavior.

You are not authorized to investigate the discrepancy independently or question Mordrun concerning the conflicting records solely on that basis. If later conduct makes the discrepancy relevant to personnel safety, service eligibility, or identity verification, attach your observations to the existing report and allow Compliance to determine whether investigation is necessary.

Skillset: Mordrun worked on the structural frames of Crown Meridian prior to volunteering. He is consequently good with his hands and has practical experience with large structural systems. He should be particularly useful when an expedition requires someone who can understand how something was built, why it failed, or how to get it working again.

Please help Mordrun be the great volunteer he was meant to be.
